DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 1-3, 5-16 and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ritter (US 6,859,650).

Regarding claim 1, Ritter discloses a method for processing digital data in a mobile telephone network including a mobile unit 1 operatively connected to a smart card 2 having an embedded chip, said chip having an information processor and a data storage unit, said data storage unit including a reporter-type application program, said method including receiving, in the reporter-type application in the smart card, an event sent from a mobile unit; and delegating, in response to receiving said event, execution of a smart-card operation to an additional application program stored in a data storage unit of the remote server. See FIG. 1, col. 3, lines 40-46 and col. 5, lines 57-64.

Regarding claim 2, Ritter discloses that the data storage unit of the smart card stores at least one program for controlling said mobile unit by sending commands and for reacting to events sent from the mobile unit, said program for reacting to said events executing instructions associated with said events, in order to perform functionalities associated with at least one predetermined application. See col. 6, lines 32-41.

Regarding claims 3, 9 and 16, Ritter discloses that the reporter-type application program retransmits to the remote server a data characteristic of said event received from said mobile unit, and wherein the additional application program in the remote server executes, upon reception of said data characteristic, at least one of said instructions associated with said at least one predetermined application, and retransmits results of said execution to said mobile unit to said embedded chip in the smart card. See col. 5, line 64 – col. 6, line 3.

Regarding claims 5, 10, 18 and 19, Ritter discloses that the additional application program stored in the remote server is a master-type application program, wherein a slave-type application program is stored in said storage unit of said embedded chip of the smart card, wherein said slave-type application program receives commands from the master-type application program and executes said commands using said information processor of said embedded chip of the smart card, and wherein said slave-type application program retransmits results of said execution of commands to the master-type application program. See col. 4, lines 18-37 and col. 6, lines 26-31.

Regarding claims 6, 11, 13 and 20, Ritter discloses that at least one of the reporter-type application program and the slave-type application program is an autonomous-type application program which directly executes a pre-established part of said at least one predetermined application in said embedded chip of the smart card. See col. 4, lines 18-37.

Regarding claim 7, Ritter discloses that said mobile telephone network complies with a GSM standard, and wherein said reporter-type application program complies with a GSM 11.14 standard. See col. 3, line 53 – col. 4, line 2.

Regarding claim 8, Ritter discloses that the telephone network includes at least two distinct transmission channels, one being a voice data channel and another being a message channel, and wherein said transmitted digital data is transmitted through said message channel. See col. 5, line 36-50.

Regarding claims 12, 14 and 15, Ritter discloses that the smart card is a SIM type card.
See col. 3, lines 47-61.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:
claims 4 and 17 are objected to for the reasons stated in the previous Office Action.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 7/24/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Examiner respectfully disagrees with Applicant's arguments.

The smart card 2 in Ritter has a reporter-type application that receives an event. See col. 5, line 64 – col. 6, line 3. Ritter also discloses delegating execution of smart card operation to an additional application program stored in the data storage unit of the remote server in col. 3, lines 40-46 and col. 5, lines 57-64. The remote servers can be point-to-point server 6 or TTP server 7, for example, as shown in FIG. 1. Accordingly, Ritter teaches that the reporter-type application program in the smart card receives an event from the mobile unit and delegates, in response to the receiving step, execution of a smart card operation to an additional application program stored in a data storage unit of the remote server, as claimed.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
